

SENATOR LODGE IS EASY WINNER IN BAYSTATE PRIMARY

Senate Leader Without an Active Campaign, Receives Hearty Endorsement of His Party in Massachusetts.

Boston, Sept. 12. — Senator Henry Cabot Lodge had gained a lead of nearly three to one over Joseph Walker, his opponent for the Republican nomination for Senator, in the returns from 211 precincts, including 90 from Boston, out of 1,407 in the state. These precincts gave Lodge 23,802 and Walker 8,495.

The same precincts showed Governor Channing H. Cox, seeking re-nomination with a similar lead over J. Weston Allen, now Attorney General. The vote: Cox 23,181; Allen 8,178.

Of the four candidates for the Democratic nomination for Senator, William A. Gaston was in the lead on returns from 221 precincts, including 100 from Boston. These precincts gave him 11,193 votes to 8,718 for Sherman L. Whipple, his nearest competitor. The other two candidates were far behind.

John F. Fitzgerald, former Mayor of Boston, was running far ahead of the three other candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor. The same 221 precincts gave him 13,602 votes to 4,139 for Peter F. Sullivan, Mayor of Worcester, who was running second.

Joseph C. Pelletier, who was removed a few months ago from the office of District Attorney of Suffolk county, was leading six opponents for that office in the returns from 130 Boston precincts. These gave Pelletier 13,027 to 6,378 for Thomas C. O'Brien, the present district attorney. O'Brien was running far ahead of three other candidates for the Republican nomination for district attorney, the same precincts giving him 14,491 votes to 2,994 for William J. Paton, running in second place.

All of the Republican Congressmen from Massachusetts who sought re-nomination at the primary today, with the exception of Frederick H. Gillett, were given the honor without contest. Congressman Gillett was opposed by William H. Folger, former Mayor of Northampton.

YOUTHFUL SLAYER OF FATHER SURRENDERS

Batavia Lad, Charged With Having Slain His Own Father, Surrenders To Clermont County Sheriff.

Gub Liebermann, 17 years old, Batavia, Ohio, who is charged with killing his father, Frank Liebermann, at home, near Batavia, several weeks ago, surrendered to Sheriff John Rapp at Batavia on Monday night. Police in several cities and counties had been searching for Liebermann. On Monday night about 9 o'clock Liebermann, accompanied by his attorney, Nate Coker, of Batavia, went to the office of Sheriff Rapp and surrendered.

He will be given a hearing before Judge Clarence Young of the Juvenile Court tomorrow morning. It lies in the Judge's hands either to commit the boy to the Lancaster Farm or have him bound over to the grand jury. Liebermann was placed in the Batavia jail without bond and refused to make a statement concerning the charge. It was learned that he had been in Cleveland while the authorities were searching for him.

On August 18 neighbors were summoned to the Liebermann home by young Liebermann, who said his father was seriously ill. The mother had gone to a fair and the son and father were the only ones at home at the time. When the neighbors arrived they found the elder Liebermann lying on a bed with a gunshot wound in his chest. He died a few minutes later.

BIG LAND FRAUD CHARGED AT STATE CAPITAL BY OFFICIALS

Former State Official Involved In Reported Big Land Grab—Nine Thousand Acres Said To Be Involved.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 13. — Land frauds involving 9,000 acres of land have been under investigation by the Franklin county grand jury, it was learned here today. The jury reported this afternoon and it is reported to have returned an indictment against a former state employee charging with falsifying a public record.

The land in question is in three tracts, one of 6,000 acres, one of 2,500 acres and the other of 500. It is located on what is known as the Telford tract, which includes parts of Tennessee and Kentucky. The tract in question is located south of Walker's line and owing to the straightening of Kentucky-Tennessee boundary in 1830, prior to which time it was in Kentucky, patents are filed in the Frankfort land office.

The Knox county grand jury also is said to have been investigating the tract. There is a civil suit on file in Whitley county.

According to information received here from Whitley county, it is alleged that three forged surveys of the land were filed in the surveyor's office in Knox county and patents secured in Frankfort. Three other fraudulent surveys are alleged to have been filed, but patents not secured.

The alleged fraud was discovered, it was said, when J. G. Webb, a Corbin jeweler, produced the fraudulent patents and surveys and proposed to file them as evidence of his title to a portion of a tract of 16,000 acres to which F. J. Lemoyne, of Baltimore, and William B. Melville, of Chicago, held a patent issued by the Kentucky land office in 1851 and which was shown to be fraudulent.

Two years ago Lemoyne and Melville filed suit in Huntsville, Tenn., to quiet title to a small strip of land claimed by Lemoyne and Melville on three different title papers. The first was a deed which the party alleged to have made it store was fraudulent. Then a patent for 500 acres alleged to have been issued by Tennessee in 1813 was recorded. This was thrown out of court and a deed purporting to have been given by John V. Lemoyne was issued, but this, too, was thrown out.

After these papers were thrown out Webb is alleged to have produced the fraudulent patents from Kentucky and proposed to file them in evidence. Investigation by H. C. Gillis, of Williamsburg, for the Lemoyne interests is said to have disclosed the alleged fraud.

TOWNSEND WINS IN MICHIGAN.

Detroit, Sept. 13. — Senator Charles E. Townsend, who supported Senator Truman S. Newberry in his fight against being unseated, was renominated as Republican candidate in yesterday's Michigan primary. Returns from 1625 precincts out of 2856, gave Townsend a plurality of nearly 20,000.

In the race for gubernatorial nomination, Governor Alex J. Groesbeck led easily from the start over four competitors.

The total of voters who went to the polls yesterday was reported comparable to the primaries of two years ago, when approximately 360,000 Republicans voted.

AS ACTIVE AS IF FIFTY YEARS YOUNGER

LOUISVILLE NEWSPAPER PAYS BAND COMPLIMENT

Louisville Herald Says State Fair Visitors Hear Best Music of Fair's History This Year.

The Louisville Herald pays a very high compliment to the Kentucky Cardinal Band when under a three column head, "Maysville Has Reason to Be Proud of Its Boys' Band," it carries a large picture of the band, naming each member, and says:

"Maysville's Boys' Band, or Boys' and Girls' Band, to be specific, for there are three girls in the organization, is playing at the State Fair. These children are educated by the citizens of Maysville, Ky., and the State Fair visitors are enjoying the best music they ever heard at the fair this year."

This is a very great compliment when it is considered that the Kentucky State Fair has had some of the biggest and best bands in the whole of the country to make music and several European bands have also made music there.

TWO JUDGES SIT ON CASE.

City Judge Harry C. Curran and Juvenile Judge H. P. Purnell jointly heard the case against nine youngsters, six of whom were juveniles, Wednesday afternoon. All of the lads were charged with a breach of the peace in causing a disturbance at the home of Bessie Bradford in the Sixth ward late Sunday night. Three of the lads, who were old enough to give him jurisdiction, were fined $25 and costs and given ten days in jail each by Judge Curran but later the jail sentence was removed and the boys given a chance to pay the fines. The six juveniles will be handled by Judge Purnell Thursday morning.

SEPARATE PEACE PLAN STARTS ROW AMONG STRIKERS

Policy Committee of Striking Shop-Craftsmen in Bitter Battle Over Settlement of Strike on Some Railroads.

Chicago, Sept. 13. — The shopcrafts' policy committee was to vote on the Baltimore peace proposal today. Bert M. Jewell and other leaders were optimistic that peace would result from the vote.

Other delegates insisted that the ranks of the "die-hard" shopmen were standing firm. That a bitter fight was in progress behind the doors of the council chamber was revealed by unguarded remarks of delegates going in or out.

One delegate still hented from the argument, asserted: "We will be here for three days. Only 51 roads have agreed to these terms. This is not enough."

"I guess we will vote peace, but we will know we have had a fight when we get it," a Jewell delegate commented.

The argument which is said to have swung a contingent of the "die-hards" over to the agreement is that with peace made on 51 roads the opening wedge for a national agreement will be driven.

Strikers who return to work will contribute two days' pay a month to the strike fund for those who remain out.

Daniel Willard, president of the B. & O., was reported today to be attempting to line up other roads before the strike vote is taken.

The only opposition to the peace plan is from workers on roads not "lined up."

These workers point out that they will be forced to fight a losing battle, and insist that the agreement be made with all roads or none.

SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD GIRL IS BRIDE OF 15-YEAR-OLD.

FLEMING OFFICIALS FIND STILL IN ROWAN COUNTY

Moonshine Outfit In Operation Found In Edge of Rowan County By Fleming Officers on Search.

The Fleming Gazette says: While Deputy Sheriffs Liram Jackson and Will Saunders were in the edge of Rowan county last week looking for a man on whom to serve a warrant, they accidentally ran into a moonshine still outfit, fired up and making whiskey. When Mr. Jackson ran into the place the operators fled, but the layout was destroyed. The Fleming officers notified the sheriff of Rowan and as a result two men, one named Watson and one Standfield, were arrested and lodged in the jail at Morehead. In looking around the premises where the men were arrested, Mr. Saunders lifted up an empty beer can and found four gallons of moonshine whiskey under it. The still, it is thought is one that has been giving the Fleming county officers trouble for some time and is supposed to have been recently moved into Rowan.

Mrs. Harding continues to improve. Washington, Sept. 13. — Mrs. Harding's condition continues to show improvement, a bulletin issued shortly after 9 a. m. today at the White House said.

After a comfortable night, during which the symptoms of her illness moderated considerably, her temperature at 8 a. m. practically was normal. The bulletin follows:

"Mrs. Harding's condition at 8 a. m.: Temperature 98.3, pulse 88, respiration 23.

"She had quite a comfortable night, sleeping longer with less interruption. Elimination increasing. Tenderness and swelling slowly subsiding. General appearance indicates as rapid improvement as reasonably can be expected."

Much stronger, Mrs. Harding got to sleep early last night. Dr. C. E. Sawyer and Dr. George T. Harding, Jr., were the only physicians who remained at the executive mansion last night.

SHIPS TO BE SCRAPPED. Washington, Sept. 13. — America's wartime fleet of wooden vessels will be scrapped, it was said today, following their sale late yesterday by the Shipping Board to George D. Perry, San Francisco.

AMERICAN WOMAN MAY BECOME THE QUEEN OF GREECE

Widow of the Former American Tin Plate King May Ascend the Throne of Troubled Country of Greece.

Paris, Sept. 13. — An American woman—the former Mrs. William D. Leeds, widow of the tin plate king—may become queen of Greece in case King Constantine abdicates.

In high Greek circles here it was believed today that Constantine, who is blamed for the disastrous war in which the Greeks have been driven by the Turks from large portions of Asia Minor, will abdicate in favor of his brother, Prince Christopher, husband of Mrs. Leeds.

Mrs. Leeds, the Princess Anastasia, is reported to have spent millions of dollars from the estate left her by her first husband, who began life as a laborer in Ohio, in restoring the "glories of Greece."

It was through her influence, in part that King Constantine was returned to the throne.

The son of the princess, William D. Leeds, Jr., also married into Greek royalty, becoming the husband of Princess Xenia nearly a year ago.

Eleutheros Venizelos was in Paris today to confer with French officials. Return to power of the aged Greek statesman has been discussed freely. He will not, however, resume his duties as premier until all of the present newly chosen cabinet sets out, he said.

WILL DISCUSS WORLD FINANCE.

In the midst of much turmoil of confusion in the business world, some reassurance may be had for a wise counseling on commercial, industrial and financial problems in the fact that seven thousand of the representative bankers of the United States will be in convention in New York, October 2-6. The occasion is the forty-eighth annual meeting of the American Bankers' Association.

While it is true that conventions do not "settle" matters, nevertheless at this time, when the financial problems of the world are more complex than ever before, consideration of these problems by the bankers of the country is regarded as having unusual significance. The fact that authoritative information on matters of world import, affecting the United States equally with the nations abroad, will be laid before this nation's banking interests alone will result in nationwide clear thinking. Conviction is that out of that must develop true and definite courses of action.

It has been said that the United States has taken no definite stand on many phases of the problems of international finance, because true information on conditions abroad was not always at hand. In this respect the coming convention will do much to shed light. Financial problems purely local to the United States will not be overlooked in the work of the delegates, but because of the intricate relationship of our affairs with Europe it is expected that the larger phase of international conditions will be the keynote of the convention work. In banking and financial circles the convention is considered the most important business conference of the year.

The American Bankers' Association has not held a convention in New York in the last seventeen years. With New York as the financial center of the country, it is regarded as particularly fortunate that the meeting is there this year, when the financial problems of the entire world are perhaps more perplexing than ever in history. Of the 30,000 banks of the country, 23,000 are members of the American Banking Association.

NO DOMINATION OVER PUBLIC WELFARE

President Harding — "It is of public interest to preserve the labor unions and profit by the good that is in them, but we must check the abuses and the excesses which conflict with public interest, precisely as we have been progressively legislating to prevent capitalistic, corporate or managerial domination which is contrary to the public welfare."

NO GOVERNMENT OPERATION

The whole nation will hope that President Harding is right in his belief that there will be no need for the government to take over the operation of any railroad or coal mine. We had one experience with government operation, and it was not satisfactory in any respect.

Detroit Free Press—A great deal of fun is being poked at the man who suggested that the Republicans have a chance to carry Texas, but if every Southern voted acted according to his principles instead of traditions and prejudice, any Southern State might be doubtful.

Omaha Bee—Almost a million dollars a day of war debt was paid by Uncle Sam last year. This is in pleasing contrast to the record made for the first two years of the Wilson administration, which run behind almost exactly a million dollars a day.

Albany Journal—If Germany had won the war, there wouldn't be a deadlock over reparations. Germany would have collected, in one way or another.

Marion Star—Tom Marshall announces that he does not want to be president; being vice president eight years was enough for him, evidently.

Boston Transcript—They are now talking in Europe of starting another league. Presumably with the idea that it take one league to kill another.

South Bend Tribune—If we understand Mr. Foster, a man can not be punished for thinking red revolution. Much as he ought to be.

Sealed Bids Wanted

During the recent windstorm which visited this city, the building known as the

EXPERT EXPLAINS
RADIO FREQUENCY
AMPLIFICATION

Brief Interview With Wireless Engineer Brings Out Interesting Information in Regard to Phenomenon of Wireless Telephony.

Although radio frequency amplification is no mystery to the average wireless telephony amateur, there are many, especially those who have recently become radio fans, who will be interested in a brief explanation of this phenomenon. Mr. Charles Kilgour, radio engineer, who is in charge of the corps of engineers employed by the Crosley Manufacturing Company, operators of the radio station W. L. W., in Cincinnati, Ohio, has made a close study of radio frequency amplification, and, in a discussion of it, said:

"Everyone knows the purpose of the ordinary two stage amplifier is to make louder the sound as originally received through the detector tube or crystal. This amplifier makes any audible signal louder; therefore it is called an audio frequency amplifier."

"The extremely weak electrical alternating currents induced in the antenna circuit of the receiving set have a frequency far too high to produce an audible effect on the head phones. Broadcasting stations usually use the 350 meter wave length, which means that the current picked up has a frequency of more than 800,000 cycles per second. The lowest note of the piano or organ has about 16 beats, or cycles, per second, while the highest beats approximately 8,000 times per second."

"The high frequency current picked up from the broadcasting station is called a radio frequency current, because it is at this high frequency that the message is radiated through space. Combined with the radio frequency pulsation there is a low frequency variation which is the part we wish to hear. The detector so alters the current that the high frequency part has no effect on the head phones while the low frequency part acts upon them, causing them to give out an audible note. This is called rectification."

"Understanding this, it is apparent the name indicates that a radio frequency amplifier does it work before the detector has acted. It is inserted in the set between the tuner and detector. As in the case of a fine audio frequency amplifier, a vacuum tube with its proper circuits is used to strengthen the electrical current. In this case, however, this is accomplished before the current has been rectified by the detector. One stage of radio frequency amplification will not have as great an effect on the output as a single stage audio frequency amplifier of proper design, but it has several advantages.

"If a great volume of output is desired, why do we not use more stages of audio frequency amplification? We cannot ordinarily use four or six stages because audio amplification becomes very noisy when cascaded in this manner and sounds generated in the tubes themselves have a tendency to drown out the signal. On the other hand, a radio frequency amplifier does not have this bad quality in anything like the same degree.

"There is another important advantage derived from the use of the radio amplifier. Detector tubes fail to rectify very weak signals so there is nothing for the audio frequency amplifiers to work with, no matter how efficient they may be. A properly designed radio frequency amplifier, however, will strengthen these weak signals to such an extent that the detector will do its work properly and the audio frequency amplified will make the sounds heard in the head phones or loud speaker. Properly designed radio frequency amplifiers are very successful and open a new field of enjoyment for those who 'listen in.'"

NERVOUS AND HALF-SICK WOMEN

These Letters Recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Will Interest You

For Your Own Good Please Read Them

Youngstown, Ohio.—"Last fall I began to feel mean and my back hurt me and I could hardly do my little bit of housework. I was played out when I would just sweep one room and have to have to rest. I would have to put a cushion behind me when I would sit down and at night I could not sleep unless I had something under my back. I had awful cramps every month and was just nearly all in. Finally my husband said to me one day, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine?' and I said, 'I am willing to take anything if I could get well again.' So I took one bottle and a second one and felt better and the neighbors asked me what I was doing and said, 'Surely it must be doing you good all right.' I have just finished my eighth bottle and I cannot express to you how I feel, the way I would like to. If you can use this letter you are welcome to it and if any woman does not believe what I have written to be true, she can write to me and I will describe my condition to her as I have to you."—Mrs. ELMER HEASLEY, 141 S. Jackson St., Youngstown, Ohio.

"I was very nervous and run-down," writes Mrs. L. E. Wiesse of 706 Louise St., New Orleans, La. "I would often sit down and cry, and was always blue and had no ambition. I was this way for over a year and had allowed myself to get into quite a serious condition. One day I saw your advertisement in the daily paper and began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once. I have improved ever since taking the third bottle and find it is the best medicine I have ever taken."

Benefited by First Bottle

"I was completely run down and not able to do my housework. I just dragged myself around and did not have energy to get up when once I sat down. I read advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in our paper 'The Indiana Daily Times,' and learned all about it. I received results from the very first bottle and now I am doing all my own work, even washing and ironing, and I never felt better in my life. I tell all my friends it is due to you."—Mrs. ELIZABETH REINHOLD, 403 N. Pine St., Indianapolis, Indiana.

You should pay heed to the experiences of these women. They know how they felt before taking the Vegetable Compound, and afterwards, too. Their words are true.

UNCLE TED'S
BED-TIME STORIES.

"I don't know much about it but I do know from all I've heard and read that every time there is a strike of any kind there is one class of people who suffer no matter what the results are." It was Jack speaking again after having had a little argument with Freddie, who always seems to start him going.

"Who is that?" asked Ruth.

"THE PUBLIC!" answered Jack with a bang. "Ever since the government from Washington obtained what the newspaper says is a temporary injunction which is to keep the railroad shopmen who have been on strike for so long a time from interfering in any way with the operation of the railroads, some of the boys have been sore as can be because they don't like it."

"Talking about the big government court order, I suppose," said Uncle Ted, who had just appeared on the scene. "Well, it sure has caused some excitement and I'm mighty glad it has. It was time that everybody in this country realized that the government comes first. That no one class can make it impossible for all the people to live and pursue their work and happiness. I am not talking about the striking shopmen alone. They have a right to quit but they have no right to go further and interfere with the trains which much carry mail and food not to mention passengers. The important phase of this whole matter, to me, is the fact that there are many leaders who seem to think that the unions should hold themselves above the law when dealing with this injunction. They do not represent the whole unions but they do great damage to the workingman's cause because their radical statements and actions are heard and seen while the conservative patriotic workingman who thinks of the nation as a whole first is not seen or heard."

"I am certainly disappointed, to say the least, in Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, who didn't wait a minute to issue a statement after the injunction order was sent out. He holds that the order is illegal, calls the Attorney General the 'attorney of the railroad companies' and from everything he said it is plain that he will encourage labor to follow a course of defiance and continued battle so far as the Federal government's order is concerned. While such leaders as Mr. Gompers are going along dangerous paths in urging defiance of the government's order, there is another class of people who are speaking in no mistaken terms. That class is the class to which Jack referred as I came into the room. The PUBLIC has spoken in this matter. From every section of the country they are upholding the Harding administration in the only step which could have been taken in this serious trouble. Our president is a peace-loving man, a hard and strenuous worker. All day Labor Day, when others of his office were away enjoying the holiday, he stayed at his desk working and trying to bring about a result in these matters which shall mean the best for the most of all the people whom he is serving as the head of this great country. I said that the public had spoken in this matter. There is no doubt of that in view of the thousands of messages that have been pouring into Washington ever since the injunction step was taken."

"You see, kiddies, the American people are true lovers of liberty. They are raised on it. The country was built on it. They can not stand by and agree to a few people dominating any situation. Before everything else, there must be law and order, else we would find our great country turning to the long, hard and evil road which has been traveled by Russia of recent years, once one of the most powerful and richest countries on the globe."

"Samuel Gompers in his Labor Day statement said, among other things, that organized labor had 'few outside its own ranks who sympathize with them in their determination to emancipate mankind.' This is not true, of course. There is a lack of sympathy all right but it is because the American people will not stand for the defiant attitude of certain of the labor leaders when it comes to a matter of law and order."

"Why doesn't Mr. Gompers get rid of such leaders?" asked Jack.

"That is the real point, Jack. The American people are not down on the men of union labor. They realize that in organization there is strength and splendid results if handled properly. But the attitude and action of ill-advised leaders has done more recently to hurt union labor than anything their enemies could have done in a hundred years. To defy the law, no matter how much we don't like it, is futile. The end of such action can only spell disaster. There are some laws I don't like, but I have to obey them and do so gladly because it is my duty as an American citizen. In this case the railroads must run; law and order must be preserved. If such is not the case our great country is in grave danger."

"And remember, kiddies, in all you do and think, the laws of our country are ourselves second. Now get along to bed and next time I'll tell you a story and stop this lecturing."

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York — Opera training certainly does develop one's voice. The other afternoon, the most terrible screams I ever heard suddenly penetrated my office walls, evidently coming from the street eleven floors below. For at least four minutes, a woman screamed, with agony, terror and everything else blood-curdling in her voice. To me, it meant only one thing. Some poor mother was seeing her child crushed beneath the wheels of a motor truck. Every window in the neighboring buildings were thrown open and office workers leaned out while crowds came running from Fifth avenue. But no child had been injured, no one's bones had been broken. A former musical comedy singer had just discovered her husband whom she had been seeking for six years in order to get the alimony due her! It seems she was standing in the entrance to our building when she saw him pass by. The screams followed. Albert Gallatin Wheeler, the husband in question, said that he never was so glad to see a policeman as he was the one who arrived first and calmed the screams.

And they say that motion pictures do not tend to elevate! What about this? A month ago, Morris Kohn was raided by burglars and all of his private stock of pre-prohibition liquor stolen. The other day, he found almost all of it stacked on his front porch and the following note tied to one package: "Here's some of your booze back. Since we took it we got to thinking you might get sick and not have any, and guys die from being out of sudden. If we hadn't seen a movie on Fourteenth street today, where a guy almost croaked for want of a drink, you would not be getting this nor of the stuff. We'll meet again some day. Yours truly."

I wonder if our rock-ribbed Manhattan Island might crumble to pieces from the rough treatment we are giving it. Geological experts are telling us that the sudden bursting of water mains and collapse of building walls which have occurred here recently may be due to powerful blasts a mile away from the spot. The island is made up of rock strata which runs the entire length of the city. A blast set off at any point on one of these may be felt some distance away powerfully enough to do the damage. One of the mildest of these strata, according to geological authorities, runs diagonally across the city with its center near Columbus Circle. The most extensive excavations in operation on the island right now are those of the Commonwealth Hotel, just below the Circle, and the fact that they have been left at Madison avenue and Forty-second street tends to substantiate this theory. A group of geologists will use this district as a basis for investigation in order to decide what methods would best protect the city from blasting shock.

It seems like a pretty safe world, after all. Two of the passengers on the Homeric when it landed here the other day, were Raymond Knight, aged seven, and his sister, Phyllis, nine, who crossed alone in the steerage after a visit in their parents' families in England. The children announce a fine voyage and no loneliness.

"A Fantastic Fricasee" is the initial attraction of the new season at the Greenwich Village Theater. The case of the poor man who marries a wealthy girl and proudly supports her out of his own earnings, has been reversed. When Warren A. Klipp, Jr., son of the general manager of the National Super Refining Company at Yonkers, eloped with eighteen-year-old Dorothy Bullyment, his family disinherited him, or at least cut off his present allowance. Now it is essential to him to have some sort of income because he is finishing his course at Columbia University. So the young wife has secured a job as a cloak model and is helping him to complete his education while he is trying to find something to do outside of college hours.

FARMERS FIND CULLS DO NOT PRODUCE EGGS.

Lexington, Ky. — Eighty hens culled from the flock of 180 Brown Leghorns owned by W. W. Hampton, an Oldham county farmer who lives near Goshen, failed to produce a single egg during the week after they were removed from the flock, according to a report while he has just made on the culling demonstration conducted on his farm by poultrymen of the College of Agriculture. Scores of reports being received on similar demonstrations conducted in all parts of the state during the last few weeks by the college poultrymen and county agricultural agents show that practically every poultry flock in the state contains a surprising percentage of boarder hens that can be disposed of without reducing the egg production of the flock.

During the week before culling the 180 hens in Mr. Hampton's flock produced 180 eggs. During the week after the 80 boarder hens were removed, the 100 hens produced as many eggs as the 180 had produced during the week before culling.

Similar results were obtained by Mr. Leo Kendall who lives near Campbellsville, Taylor county, and who also had her flock culled in a demonstration for farmers and poultry keepers in that section of the state. Fifteen hens removed from her flock of 48 Barred Plymouth Rocks because they showed the characteristic signs of being low producers failed to lay a single egg during the week after culling. During the week before culling, the 48 hens of the flock produced a total of 32 eggs while the 33 hens that were kept as layers produced 24 eggs during the week after culling.

Sixty hens in a mixed flock owned by Mrs. Charles Gentry, Fayette county, produced a total of 69 eggs during the week before the culling demonstration on her farm while the 50 hens that were kept as layers laid a total of 57 eggs during the week after the culling. The ten hens removed as culls failed to produce an egg during the week after they were removed.

SOYBEAN AND CORN GROWERS STUDY SEED SAVING METHODS.

Lexington, Ky. — Now that corn and soybeans are maturing in all parts of the state, many farmers who have the two crops growing together are wondering how they can harvest enough bean seed to plant soy in all their corn next year. Pulling a half ton or more of beans and stalks, storing them in the barn for a while and then later filling them out is perhaps the best method of solving this problem, according to Ralph Kenney, soils and crops specialist of the College of Agriculture.

"A half ton of beans and stalks can be pulled with little difficulty and thrown into a wagon bed driven through the corn field. Leaving the stalks and the beans in the barn until late winter before the seeds are filled out is a first class method of storing them since they are kept loose and dry. If the beans are threshed immediately after being pulled, they are apt to be ruined if they become damp afterwards or are damp when threshed.

"Commercial seed growers usually have one and a half tone of soybean straw from a crop that yields 20 bushels of seed an acre. Since this is the case, a half ton of good soybean stalks and pods can be expected to yield five or six bushels of good bright seed. The beans do not crack to a serious extent when threshed and are not molested by rats and mice when stored in piles."

Allen county farmers are showing a lively interest in improved dairying. County Agent A. M. Allen says. More than 300 of them recently attended a series of four meetings held for the purpose of boosting the dairy cow.

WHY WOMEN SUFFER

Many Maysville Women are Learning The Cause.

Women often suffer, not knowing the cause. Backache, headache, dizziness, nervousness, irregular urinary passages weakness, languor— Each a torture of itself. Together hint at weakened kidneys. Strike at the root—get to the cause. No other remedy more highly endorsed than Doan's Kidney Pills. Recommended by thousands— Endorsed at home. Here's convincing testimony from a Maysville citizen.

Mrs. W. A. Schatzmann, 605 East Second street, Maysville gave the following statement November 15, 1916: "From the benefit I have derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills I have every reason to recommend them. Whenever my kidneys have been irregular in action or I have suffered with a weakness or lameness through the small of my back I have used a box or so of Doan's and they have always cured the attack quickly." On November 22, 1920, Mrs. Schatzmann said: "Doan's Kidney Pills certainly do all that is claimed for them. I gladly recommend them again. Doan's gave me a lasting cure." Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Schatzmann had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

HAZARD WOMAN, SHOT BY HUSBAND, MAY DIE.

Hazard, Ky., Sept. 12.—The condition of Mrs. Grace Creon, who, it is alleged, was shot here Saturday night by her husband, Harry F. Creon, was regarded today as serious, although hope is held for her recovery. Creon says that his wife left him while he was unable to obtain employment because of the fact that he is a cripple. He is in jail without bond. He claims he fired at Sidney Vardeman, whom he accuses of luring Mrs. Creon away from him.

SCOTT COUNTY JAILER SURRENDERS JAIL KEYS

At Request of Governor Morrow the Georgetown Jailer Quits and Says He Thought Mob Danger Passed.

Georgetown, Ky., Sept. 12. — Jailer Sam Moss received official notice from Governor Edwin P. Morrow this morning that he had been removed as Scott county jailer on the charge of "knowingly and willfully delivering Jack Eaton into the hands of a mob" the night of August 29.

Jailer Moss turned over the keys of the jail to County Clerk L. L. Calvert upon receipt of the order removing him from office.

The action of Governor Morrow had been expected by a majority of the county officials. It was indicated today, and the matter was looked upon as merely another incident in the series of more or less sensational episodes that have disturbed the usual tranquility of the Scott county capital since the alleged horse whipping of Jack Eaton, a circus employee, just after he was released from the county jail by order of County Judge J. B. Ward the night of August 29.

Judge Ward has said that Eaton was released when the parents of two little girls came to him and asked that Eaton be freed because they did not want to prosecute a charge of attempted assault that had been placed against him. The father of the two little girls and two other prominent men waived preliminary examination Monday on a charge of taking part in a mob, and were held out the Scott county grand jury under $500 each.

Jailer Moss reiterated statements today that he had made previously to the effect that he did not know a "mob" was waiting for the prisoner when he released him. He admitted that he had heard that there was considerable feeling against the man, but said he supposed the danger was all past when Judge Ward ordered the release.

Mr. Moss declined to say today whether or not he will avail himself of his privilege of filing a motion within ten days for a hearing and a request for reinstatement.

Kansas City Man Makes Confession That He Killed His Two Daughters and Placed Bodies in River.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 12. — A confession that he had killed his two daughters and thrown their bodies into the Missouri River was made today by Tony Dinello, of Kansas City, Kansas, to Henry T. Zimmer, chief of police, and several detectives, the chief of police announced today.

Dinello was arrested yesterday after the second of the bodies had been taken from a sand pit near Napoleon, 30 miles down stream by a fisherman.

The girls were 11 and 13 years old. Dinello's relatives became suspicious several days ago, when they visited him and he gave conflicting explanations of the girls' absence. About the same time a body was found tied in a sack and although it was not then identified, it was established that the girl had been struck on the head. The second body showed the same kind of fracture.

Both the girls were dressed in cheap wrappers and wore no shoes or stockings. Both sacks into which their bodies were placed similarly were tied at the top and by strings around the necks.

"MAN UNDER COVER"

Paul Porter and his pal in slippery deals, Daddy Moffat, had dropped into the old home town where Porter was raised and driven out years before.

They looked the old town over. Not much to look at. Paul had found his old chum, Holt Langdon, cashier of the bank and publisher of the newspaper, in serious trouble to the tune of twenty-five thousand and embezzled dollars. He had tried to save Holt and hadn't succeeded, though when Holt committed suicide he had rearranged the gun and put a fuse nearby as evidence that the man died defending the bank. One good deed, and that seemed all there was to do. Holt's sister, Paul's old sweetheart, Margaret Langdon, had three babies at her apron strings.

"Nothing more to do," said Paul to Daddy Moffat. "Let's go!" So they got in a trembling filver for a good graceful exit from the town. Then an idea invaded Paul's mind. Crook he might be, and married Margaret might be—but he had to see her once!

So he left Daddy Moffat in front of the house and went in. He came out running and slapped his pal on the back.

"Daddy, she's not married! We're going to stay here and go straight—and run her paper for her!" he shouted.

Moffat looked him over superciliously and inquired, "Say, where'd you get that 'we' stuff?"

But Paul Porter's nimble mind was made up, as last. He was going straight! This is one of the pivotal situations in "The Man Under Cover," a Universal special attraction bringing Herbert Rawlinson as a star to the Pastime Theater Thursday.

The story was written by Louis Eytinger, a "lifer" in the Arizona penitentiary.
